ABOUT THE COLLECTION

Italian porcelain stoneware tiles

The catalogue currently holds 52 Italian porcelain stoneware designs, with prices from 35,95 €/m², VAT included. Every collection is made in Italy; the tiles are 9 mm thick with rectified edges, so they lay up with exceptionally narrow joints. The core format is 120×60 cm — 46 of the 52 designs — with the remainder in 80×80 cm and 60×60 cm.

By pattern, marble looks lead with 31 designs, stone accounts for 16 and onyx for 5. Decide on the surface first: we carry 36 polished and 16 matt designs, and the choice shapes not just the look but how the tile behaves when wet. How edge rectification affects the joints is covered in our article on rectified tiles, and the pattern nuances in our marble-effect tile overview.

Porcelain stoneware conducts and stores heat well, so these tiles are an excellent match for underfloor heating. The minimum flooring order is 20 m², and the m² calculator makes it easy to size the order with a cutting allowance. We deliver across the EU within 5–10 working days, and delivery is free on orders over 2 000 €.

How to choose

Surface finish: polished or matt

The catalogue holds 36 polished designs — their mirror sheen brings out the marble veining, though the surface grows more slippery when wet. The 16 matt designs are gently textured and safer for bathrooms and kitchens, where water reaches the floor.

Pattern: marble, stone or onyx

Marble looks lead the catalogue — 31 designs with pronounced veining that unfolds best in a large format. The stone pattern (16 designs) is calmer and more universal, while the onyx collections (5 designs) are reserved for statement interiors.

Format: 120×60 cm or smaller

The large 120×60 cm format (46 of the 52 designs) leaves fewer joints and a more seamless look across open spaces. For smaller or irregular rooms, the 60×60 cm and 80×80 cm formats are the more practical cut — less trimming, fewer offcuts.

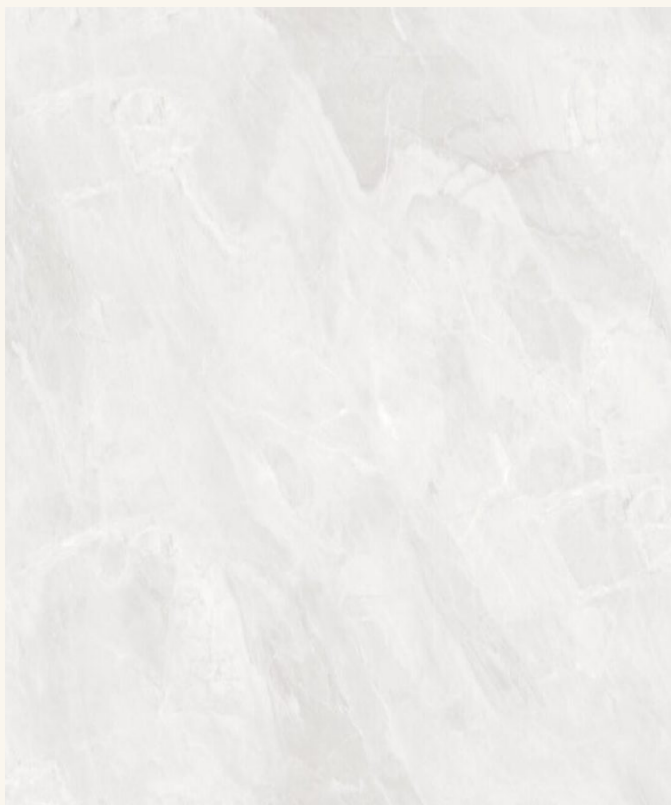

Rectified edges and joints

Every tile in the catalogue is rectified — edges cut at a precise right angle, allowing exceptionally narrow joints. Laying this way demands a well-levelled base, so budget for subfloor preparation in the installation estimate.
